Chips

Wal, the boys from Missouri and Iowa, ought to feel at home with all this plowin' going on here on our back campus, by Heck.

The legendary has happened. A co-ed has been scared out of her shoes! After Dr. Ragatz' first hour examination, when all the class had left, the professor passed down the aisle to see that all was well, and discovered a pair of very nice oxfords, placed at a proper forty-five degree angle, with with each other, with no feet therein. Goods left over thirty days will be sold, we suppose.

We read on the bulletin board in Building W (nee Corcoran Hall):

"Notice: Will the kind-hearted person who decided to lighten my burdens by carrying my topcoat home for me please realize that he took it to his own home by mistake? By so doing, he lightened my pocketbook and exposed my would-be mainly form to the cruel blasts of autumn. If he has taken a great liking to my taste in topcoats, then he may procure the hat to match, and also the mate to the glove that was in the pocket, by calling Decatur 4844 and asking for Dan. (Moral: Never do things by halves. If you can't do a thing right, don't do it at all!)"

Beneath the notice was inscribed "POSTING UNAUTHORIZED."

Add similes of 1929: As incorrect as football program numbers of grid-iron heroes:

Lady who writes Hatchet society notes says she'll put anybody's name in the paper who goes to the William and Mary game, because she's going, and won't have time to do any other work. Stand in line boys, and don't push.

The title for assigning the most work in the History Department has passed to Dr. Samuel Flagg Bemis, we understand. This professor, recently returned from England, France, and way stations, assigned two books for outside reading last week, and was inconsiderate enough to expect his class to read them. Moreover, we hear, he quizzed on the books during an examination. Dr. Bemis likes maps and lecture notes, too.

Czar Herzog is a versatile man. First, he ran the dollar dances, and then the Interfraternity Prom. During the summer, he directed the business end of the Handbook, and now he's business manager of the Cherry Tree. Such popularity, etc.

Herb Angel, Hatchet chairman, doesn't vary his titles much. He's added another presidency to his lot. He's now president of the District of Columbia Collegiate Press Conference, in addition to being prexy of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States and president of the local chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity. He and the other Herb at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue should get together.

A battered varsity eleven comes back from New York. It seems to us as if substitutions might have been made when defeat by a decisive score was certain, so that a slightly-built team might be saved all possible punishment. There are other games to be played.

They tell us that some of our profs really strutted in the recent barn dance. And wonder of wonders, the co-eds were the ones to stumble over their feet and others. The fellows refused to dance the Reel, because they opine that prohibition forbids reeling, and far be it from them to violate the law of the land.

A general University calendar is a good thing, because we always have such an awful time getting dates when four or five fraternities throw a dance on the same night. There ought to be a law against it—that is, unless we get our date first, and in that case, everything's all right.

If the proposal of the Committee on Student Life is approved by the President's Council, the death-knell of 115 useless class officers of other years will be sounded, and a workable body of 14 representatives from all schools and divisions of the University will be substituted. This group is small enough to do things, and if they can't find things to do, there will be but 14 loafers instead of 115, as one of our friends puts it.

Now we hear that "Oh Honey" isn't O. K. as a title for the Troubadours show. Wish they'd decide on something definite so we could begin to find fault with it.

COLONIALS LOSE ONE-SIDED GAME TO NEW YORKERS

C. C. N. Y. Repeats Victory of Last Year in 45-0 Contest

BIENSTOCK, GOLDBAMMER SCORE FIVE TOUCHDOWNS

G. W. Jinx Continues as Francis Is Out For Season With Dislocated Shoulder

Buried under an avalanche of end runs, center rushes, and off-tackle plays, The George Washington University football team suffered a 45-0 pasting at the hands of the eleven representing the College of the City of New York in that city last Saturday.

It was the fourth straight defeat for the Hatchettes and the most decisive thus far this season. It was also the second game in which Pile's men have been held scoreless as American U. had previously white-washed them, and the second successive year that they have been annihilated by the Manhattan school.

The George Washington Jinx was again in evidence as Francis, sterling end, was forced to withdraw from the contest because of injuries. He has dislocated his shoulder and will be unavailable for the rest of the season.

C. C. N. Y. Scores Early

The New Yorkers started their offensive shortly after the game got under way and scored a touchdown in the first quarter. From this point on the game became a matter of just how large the score would be. The home team took advantage of every opportunity and scored in each period. In addition to the first quarter touchdown, they made two more in the second, one in the third and three in the final session. The extra points were added after touchdowns, two by plunges and one by virtue of a dropkick.

At only one time during the entire fray were the Hatchettes in a position to score and they failed to make use of their opportunity. This was in the final quarter, when a blocked kick gave the visitors the ball on their opponents' 15-yard line. Three line smashes and a forward pass were unsuccessful, however, and Bienstock kicked out of danger for his team.

One thing may be said in the Colonials' favor, namely, that they entered the contest in bad physical condition. Berkowitz and Hoffman had not fully recovered from the injuries they received in the Dickinson encounter the week before.

Goldhammer Stars

In Bienstock and Goldhammer the Lavender aggregation produced two backs of unquestionable ability, and these two men scored 32 points between them. Bienstock registered three touchdowns, while Goldhammer accounted for two more and scored two more points on rushes after touchdowns.

Despite the fact that the quarter-back recorded one more touchdown, it was the diminutive Goldhammer who was the real star of the contest. Weighing 145 pounds and standing but five feet three inches tall, it seemed as though this mid-gut was all dynamite. Three times he brought the crowd to its feet by spectacular runs of more than average length.

STUDENT COUNCIL IS RECOMMENDED

Student Life Committee Suggests Change To President's Council

REPLACES CLASS OFFICERS

One Delegate For Each 500 Students; Each Division or School to be Represented

Establishment of a student council to supersede the President's system of class officers now in force at the University is the recommendation of the Student Life Committee to the President's Council.

Under the plan it is proposed that there shall be a representative from each school or division of the University, allowing one delegate for each 500 students or major fraction thereof registered in that school or division. Therefore representation would be as follows:

School	Representatives
Columbian College	5
School of Engineering	1
School of Graduate Studies	1
School of Pharmacy	1
School of Education	1
School of Government	1
Division of Library Science	1
Division of Fine Arts	1
School of Law	1
School of Medicine	1
	14

The text of the resolution follows:

Resolved, That a student council of representatives from the several schools and divisions of the University be established.

That these representatives be elected by their respective schools, with each school or division being entitled to one delegate for each 500 students or major fraction thereof registered in that school or division. Provided, however, That no school or division have less than one representative.

That these elected members of the council choose one of their number, an upper classman, to serve as president of the council and concurrently as president of the student body of the University, and that another member of the council, an upper classman, be elected by the council as vice president, and a third member as secretary-treasurer.

That the present system of class officers, including a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms for each class of each school or division be abolished.

RADIO AUDITION TEST AIDED BY DEAN DOYLE

G. W. Dean Assists Committee Enlisting Prospective Contestants For $25,000 Prizes

Efforts to discover a second Hazel Arth to be the District of Columbia's participant in the 1929 National Radio Audition are being expedited to the fullest extent by the D. C. Audition Committee and its survey subcommittee of which Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, of G. W. U., is a member.

It is the duty of the survey subcommittee to get in touch with teachers of music, leaders of choirs, choral societies, educators, etc., with the purpose of listing all known singers of merit and of presenting to them the opportunity to participate in the National Radio Audition. To this end Dean Doyle and his fellow-members of the subcommittee have been communicating with the individuals and organizations named, and outlining the advantages to both trained and untrained vocalists of entering the competition.

Prizes to the ten national winners will aggregate $25,000, and each of the ten will, in addition, receive a musical scholarship of at least one year in a recognized school or under a responsible teacher of the winner's choice.

The National Radio Audition was organized primarily to uncover unknown and untalented voices; to give ambitious young people an opportunity to share in awards that will make possible study and training; and to give to the world artists who might otherwise remain hidden. If a young man or young woman has a genuine ambition to become a singing artist and has a natural equipment that would justify such an ambition, coming in contact with those who have studied and endeavored to train their voices will show just how valuable study and training is—how essential to success.

CALENDAR WILL BE ESTABLISHED

All Social Events To Be Recorded With Women's Activities Secretary

CHAPERONES TO BE FILED

Invitations to Various Groups Extended by Student Life Committee of G. W.

A social calendar for the University organizations has been established by the Student Life Committee, and invitations have been extended to the various groups on the campus to register social affairs with the Secretary for Women's Activities. In asking Students to cooperate in registering their dates, the committee feels that many of the conflicts of dates will be avoided.

When the plan has been started the committee will want social affairs listed a month or at least three weeks in advance of the social event. By having the date set and officially in the hands of this central committee chaperones will be secured with facility, and their acceptances filed in the office of the Secretary of Women's Activities.

A motion was made at the Student Life Committee meeting to affirm the rules regarding chaperones as they appeared in the 1928 Handbook, copies of which may be secured. These rules were accidentally omitted from the 1929 Handbook, but they are still in effect.

The regulations as stated in the Handbook are as follows:

I. Handbook

(a) All social organizations of the University shall file with the Secretary for Women's Activities the name of the President, his or her address and telephone number, and a brief statement of the nature and purpose of the organization.

(b) Any group of students desiring to form a new social organization shall submit to the committee a list of charter members and a copy of the proposed constitution and by-laws. A group shall not be recognized as a University organization except upon approval by the committee.

II. Calendar

Application for dates for social events attended by both men and women given by any University organization must be filed in the office of the Secretary for Women's Activities not later than one week in advance.

III. Chaperonage

Definition—A chaperon is a responsible person, approved by the committee to act in this capacity, whose duties are (1) To be present at the opening of the function they are chaperoning; (2) To remain until all guests have left; (3) To report to the committee any violation of University Regulations or of good order in general.

(a) Each organization shall file with the committee, not later than October 1st of each school year, a list of not less than ten names of persons willing to act as chaperons at social events under its auspices. Such list shall contain the following information:

1. Name of organization filing list.
2. Name, address, and telephone number of officer in charge of social activities, or of president if there is not such an officer.

3. Name in full of each chaperon.
4. City address of each chaperon.
5. Telephone number of each chaperon.

6. A statement of proposed chaperon's interest in or connection with the University or organization.
7. Date of graduation of proposed chaperon, if alumnus.

Troubadours Hold Tryouts For Cast

Three Given Speaking Parts in New Play; Rehearsals Well Under Way

Final tryouts for the Troubadours, which were held last Wednesday, resulted in Wilhelmina Gude, Ralph Kennedy, and Henry Lee being added to the cast. The parts these people will take call entirely for speaking parts.

Rehearsals for the cast begin this week and with the choruses already practicing daily, much is expected of this year's production.

D. C. COLLEGIATE WRITERS CHOOSE ANGEL CHAIRMAN

Will P. Kennedy of Evening Star Is Speaker at Luncheon Meeting

PRESIDENT NEVILS OF G. U. ADDRESSES GROUP

George Washington, Georgetown, Trinity, Maryland, and American University Are Represented

Herbert E. Angel, chairman of the Board of Editors of the George Washington University Hatchet, was unanimously elected president of the District of Columbia Collegiate Press Conference at a permanent organization meeting held at Georgetown University Saturday. Representatives of 15 student publications in five of the colleges and universities of Washington and vicinity were in attendance. Joseph B. Brunini, editor-in-chief of the Georgetown Hoy, was elected secretary.

The other institutions represented in the organization are American University, University of Maryland, and Trinity College. Catholic U. is expected to join the conference. It is thought that eventually most of the institutions of higher learning in the Washington vicinity will be embraced in the membership of the conference.

President W. Coleman Nevills, of Georgetown University, addressed the writers at their opening session. He urged them to heed "truth and accuracy" in their reporting, and to avoid sensationalism in their editorial policy.

Will P. Kennedy, of the Capitol staff of The Evening Star, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting, when the student editors were guests of Rev. R. Rush Rankin, dean of Georgetown College.

Kennedy Gives Address

Mr. Kennedy emphasized the importance of the work of the Washington correspondents, and extolled their unimpeachable integrity. He welcomed the college journalists to such company "as neophytes," urging them to "carry the light onward and upward," and saying: "The tone and character and quality of our profession must be maintained. There must be educated and trained leadership from those well grounded in the humanities."

He impressed upon them the work that they can perform, even those who do not follow the profession, by developing a "decent press demand from the people themselves, which will aid greatly in strengthening the character of a clean and cultured journalism." He reminded them that in exercising jealous care over what went into the columns of their college publications sent out from the National Capital, they are "Washington correspondents" maintaining the principles and ideals of the press galleries.

Writers Are Warned

The college writers were warned that success in the news-writing field must be won by hard work and that, after the mellowing process, in the fullness of years and the ripening process, they may some day represent great metropolitan newspapers at the seat of Government.

At the opening session of the conference, Brunini, the temporary chairman, presided. Angel responded to Dr. Nevills' address. There was a general discussion of the problems confronting college publications. Miss Anne O'Brien, editor of the Trinity Record, spoke about the advantages of cooperation between the editorial and business staffs. J. V. Powers, editor of the Maryland Diamondback, in his address discussed the importance of intercollegiate news, and Norman S. Cramer, business manager of the American University Ancola and the Eagle, summarized the various problems as presented by the other speakers.

After the opening session the conference divided into groups for the further exchange of ideas, with a view to bringing about a greater degree of cooperation and improvement in the publications. After the meetings the writers were the guests of President Nevills at the Georgetown-Lebanon Valley football game.

Colleges Send Delegates

Delegates representing the staffs of the publications of the members of the conference were as follows:

Representing Trinity College—Mary Angela Dowling, editor, Trinity Times; Margaret Kinnirey, business manager, Trinity Times; Anne O'Brien, editor, The Record; Margaret Mary Henrich, business manager, The Record; Esther Gorey, editor, The Trinitogue; Margaret Lahey, business manager, The Trinitogue.

Representing the University of Maryland—J. V. Powers, editor, The Diamondback; Louise Townsend, editorial staff, The Diamondback; James E. Andrews, Jr., editor, The Revelle; Ruth Miles, editorial staff, The Revelle.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

With the establishment of a social calendar for the University organizations a long-needed step has been taken in the development of a well-regulated system of social activities upon the campus. Under the recommendation of the Committee on Student Life the various groups have been asked to register proposed social affairs with the Secretary for Women's Activities. In this manner it is thought that it will be possible to avoid many of the conflicts which occasionally result in unfortunate results to many worthy causes whose affairs have unwittingly been scheduled for the same date.

On a campus of the size of George Washington, with its many and varied student interests and with many members of the student body identified with similar and allied groups, it is inevitable that many conflicts will and do result in the absence of any centralized agency where the proposed events may be recorded for the guidance of other groups in the making of their plans. Furthermore, the mere act of recording the events with the Secretary will have a tendency to assure that they will be carried through to their ultimate conclusion at the appointed time and place. Under the proposed arrangement the events will be posted from three to four weeks in advance and this will assure ample notice to all interested parties. Finally, the Committee is of the belief that chaperones may be secured with greater facility and thus preclude any possibility of an improperly arranged program.

The Committee on Student Life has met the situation with an excellent remedy in its proposal. It now remains for the members of the student body charged with the responsibility of arranging the various social events to adhere strictly to the suggestion of the Committee and to file their dates promptly. This latter is within the immediate province of the student body and we confidently expect that it will fall into line with one of the most constructive schemes advanced by the Committee to date.

D. C. PRESS CONFERENCE

George Washington is particularly privileged to have the honor of heading the District of Columbia Collegiate Press Conference during this, the first year of its existence. This organization, founded after a meeting held last spring at the University, and on the suggestion and invitation of the Publications Councils, bids fair to become a force for good among nearby college papers. Containing, as it does, newspapers, annuals, literary magazines and comic publications, the conference brings together under one head all phases of local college journalism and serves to impress on those present that their problems and their triumphs are but those of the larger group, whose purpose, after all, is the same.

The conference is but in its infancy, to use a trite phrase, and whether or not its future will be fruitful will depend to a great measure on the wise leadership by The George Washington University during the coming year.

A STUDENT COUNCIL

If the plan proposed by the Committee on Student Life to the President's Council is accepted, class officers will be no more. In their stead will reign a council of fourteen, chosen on the basis of one student representative for each 500 students or major fraction thereof, with the understanding that no school or department is to have less than one representative.

For many years there have been class officers, not only at George Washington, but in other universities as well. During more recent times, however, most large universities have been gradually abolishing class officers as excess baggage, and have instituted generally some form of council government. Such is the case at George Washington. Under the present system there are 115 class officers, none of whom, so far as The Hatchet can learn, has any duties, or attempts to find any. Moreover, to make the farce complete, most of these officers are elected by one or two votes to their opponent's none, if indeed they have opponents. And still more of the offices go unfilled because no one is nominated. Reform is obviously needed.

A council, such as proposed, would represent every school and department, so that all interests would be present. Action could truly be taken for the student body of the University, and with such a small group more interest would be taken inevitably by students in the different schools, and with whole-hearted student support, it is not too much to expect that a feeling of unity will come over the University, and that George Washington as a single institution will be fixed in the minds of its students.

The President's Council should consider these points, and the fact that such a plan is recommended by students who have long shown an interest in the well-being of the University.

MAYBE you thought you were "seen" things when a convict came up to the bar with a bellhop and a powder-puff girl—but no, it was the S. A. E's annual Bohemian Ball. Everything from aristocracy to the bowery was represented at this affair which opened the Halloween season. We expect that "spooks and spirits" will be in the limelight again this week. Join the merry throng!

CO-EDS ATTEND BARN DANCE FOR FRESHMEN

Women's Athletic Association Features Novel Entertainment in Old-Fashioned Party

Almost 200 co-eds attended the Barn Dance held by the Women's Athletic Association in honor of the freshmen, on Wednesday, October 23, in Corcoran Hall I.

The party was featured by the variety of the entertainment provided, under the direction of Naomi Crunkley, who acted as master of ceremonies. The entertainment provided was the dancing of the old-fashioned square dance, the Virginia Reel, and the broom dance, which was led by Ruth Atwell, director of physical education; the Liza Jane Clog, executed by Lou James and Kay McCallum; a Newsboy Clog, performed by Rose Rosen and Julia Bonwit; and a novelty clog by Adelaide Flanagan.

A group from the Troubadours, led by Julia Denning, danced the Varsity Drag and other numbers from last year's success, "Sometime Soon."

All of the guests participated in the novelty dances, including a number dance and a balloon dance, in the marshmallow race, and the traditional game of bobbing for apples.

Refreshments, consisting of cider and gingerbread, were passed around later in the evening.

The faculty was well represented by Mrs. Barrows, secretary of women's activities; Mrs. Cullen, president of Columbian Women; Miss Cooper; Provost Wilbur, and Professor Ragatz.

Jenny Turnbull was general chairman of the fete. She was assisted by Mary Sproul, entertainment committee; Rosalie Reed and Sarah Reed, decoration committee; Evelyn Folsom, Ruth Chindblom, Bertie Wright, and Betsy Booth, invitation committee.

The members of the class in Architectural Design are at present working intensively on the most recent problem suggested by the Beaux Arts Institute, a national society of university students which prescribes projects every six weeks and then makes awards to the students turning in the best work.

The problem given to the junior and senior classes is a building for a Horticulture Society and that for the freshman and sophomore is a postoffice. In the specifications for the designs issued by the Institute, a description of what the buildings will be used for is given.

DEBATERS DISCUSS LOWER VOTING AGE

Fiery Speeches and Unique Points of Order Mark Columbian Society Meeting on October 25

Open forum was declared by the president for the entire evening at Columbian Debating Society's meeting on October 25; and, as a result, sharp discussion, marked at times by strong tirades from the floor, ensued for an hour and a half. The subject was a hastily suggested one, "Resolved, That the legal age for voting be lowered to 18 years," but it proved a source of inexhaustible cross-fire between those members who aligned themselves on the respective sides. After numerous repetitions, points of order, interruptions, and other time-wasting acts a vote by the audience revealed a stand in favor of the negative argument.

This result was stoutly contested from the floor, and in order to satisfy all concerned the president, Karl Frisbie, relinquished the chair and delivered his views, thus making the decision final.

The early argument was participated in only by Paul Keough for the affirmative, and Gilbert Rabinowitz and Ralph Morgoff for the negative. Soon, though, James Wingo was drawn in on the affirmative side, while David Rapoport made some suggestions for the negative. Sol Alpher and Richard Marks joined with remarks directed mainly toward calming the other speakers.

A suggestion that some of the ladies present join in the discussion was met at first with refusal, occasioning the remark that "that was one of the few times that members of the fair sex could be found with 'nothing to say.'"

Later, however, Clara Haneke and Rose Yenitz spoke a few words. Neither side formulated any very clear points, but this was due to the late choice of subject. In fact, in the effort to overcome this lack of debatable points much stirring oratory was resorted to. Lengthy speakers met with but little success because of frequent interruptions from the floor.

The subject for debate on Friday, November 1, was announced as "Resolved, That this house condemns the policy of the United States in Nicaragua." The members of the participating teams will be Harold F. Arps and James C. Wingo for the affirmative, and Ralph Morgoff and Robert Butte for the negative.

Five games were played in the interfraternity basketball series last week, and as a result of these games, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Sigma are leading League A, with two wins apiece, and Sigma Nu tops League B with the same number of wins.

The S. P. E.'s played two of the games last week and were returned the victor in both. In their first encounter they were given a scare, by Delta Tau Delta and the game was not decided until the last minute of play, when Reds Harris sank a long shot to give his team the victory, 14-12. In their other game, they experienced less trouble, winning by a score of 17-11. This game was marred by a noticeable lack of teamwork.

The feature game of the week was that played between Kappa Sigma and Phi Sigma Kappa, in which the former noded out a victory just before the final whistle. With less than a minute of play left, Canney, Kappa Sig guard, was fouled and he made good his free throw and his team was declared the victor, 14-16. Castell, Phi Sig guard, was high point scorer of the contest with a total of seven points. He was closely followed by Hoffman, of the victors, with six points. The score at half time was 9-4 in favor of the ultimate winners, but the score changed hands several times during the second half. Kappa Sigma was credited with its other win of the week on Friday night, by virtue of a forfeit. It had been scheduled to play Delta Tau Delta.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon opened their season impressively when they defeated Theta Upsilon Omega last week, 21-17. Forrest Burgess, former American University player, was the outstanding man on the court and in addition to scoring seven points, he played a great floor game. Dove Thomson was the high scorer for his team with eight points, although in this respect he was outscored by Hunt, of the losers, who totaled ten points. In the matter of defensive play, Scott Rigby, of the Sig Alpha quint, showed

DELTA TAU DELTA IS WINNER OF FRAT GOLF

Large Crowd Sees T. U. O.'s Defeated Last Sunday by Score of 2-1

Delta Tau Delta won the interfraternity golf championship last Sunday when they defeated Theta Upsilon Omega by the score of 2-1.

The match was played on the East Potomac Golf Course, where the previous contests had taken place. Each team had a large number of supporters, who followed the players around the course.

The winner was not determined until all of the contestants had finished their eighteen holes and the team scores totaled. The Deltas' score was 340, while T. U. O.'s aggregate was 364. It was this margin of 24 points that resulted in a win for Delta Tau Delta.

The winners' other point was gained when Cole and McConnell captured their match from Pomeroy and Suter, 6 and 5. When Baine and Fulmer gained a victory over Elliott and Townsend by a score of 4 and 3, Theta Upsilon Omega was credited with its only point.

Charlie Cole, the Delt captain, was the individual star, as he totaled but 78 strokes for the eighteen holes. He was out in 38 and came home in 40. McConnell was close behind his leader with a 43 and a 37 for a total of 80. The outstanding T. U. O. player was Pomeroy, who registered an 87.

Last Friday saw Sigma Chi making their bow in the series, and unfortunately, it was against the Sigma Nu. The latter team won by a score of 26-7. Sigma Chi did not register a single point until the final session, when Vandervort chalked up three baskets in short order. Sigma Nu had no individual star and their teamwork was a very important part of their success. Paul Brown led his mates in scoring with 9 points.

COLONIALS TRAVEL TO SOUTHWARD

Large Rooting Section To Follow Team to William and Mary College

TEAM BATTERED AT N. Y.

Young to Take Francis' Place at End of Line for Crippled Hatchettes

Coach Pixlee will lead his "Noble Twenty-Four" into the W. & M. camp next Saturday in the hope of at least bringing an even score or even a possible victory back with him. The team, even after last week's disastrous defeat, is by no means disheartened, and is determined to break into the winning streak.

But this fighting spirit of the "Iron Men" is way uplifted by the knowledge that they will be backed by a large representation from their home school on a foreign field. This uplift of the spirit of the squad is a new thing. Ex-Coach Crum has been heard to say that the fighting quality of his teams in the Penn State games far outshone that same quality in the Thanksgiving game with Catholic U. The fifty or sixty car-loads appearing in the stands will add a great deal to the psychological moral of the team. They will fight, whether they win or not, they will fight.

Light Assured

Little is actually known concerning the squad at the William and Mary camp. That they will also be in top form is apparent from the fact that November 2nd is their homecoming day and they will certainly put forth their best efforts to give their fans a real treat. This game has been one of the spotlights of past seasons and has always had a good attendance from the alumni. In 1926 they won from us by one point, and in '27 lost by thirteen points. Due to a change in the program no game was played last year.

Although Francis, first string end is out for the season with a dislocated hip, his place will probably be filled by Ford Young, who has been drilled daily for this position. Aside from this the same line-up that started last week will probably start again this Saturday.

Inter-Class Hockey Has Been Scheduled

Colonials Will Meet Harrisonburg on November 9, in First Varsity Game; Swarthmore Later

Hockey practice is being held regularly on the Ellipse every day, except Saturday, from 1:30 to 3:30.

Miss Atwell has announced a tentative schedule for all games. All inter-class games are scheduled for the week from November 18 to 22. The senior and junior class team managers are Betty Zimmerman and Martha Benson, respectively, and the sophomore and freshman managers have not been selected.

The first varsity game will be played on November 9, when the Colonial women will go to Harrisonburg, Va. The G. W. team will go to Swarthmore for their second game on November 16, and their first home game will be played the following Saturday, November 23, on the Ellipse, with William and Mary as the opposition. Evelyn Folsom, manager of the varsity team, is planning for additional practice games with Hood College.

Another time he tore off 45 yards around end, carrying the ball to the Buff and Blue 3-yard marker, only to discover that he had stepped outside on the fifteen-yard line. He was easily the chief ground gainer on the Gotham team and was indirectly responsible for six of his team's seven touchdowns.

The two remaining scores were chalked up by Schlessinger and Duleberg, a substitute.

For the Hatchettes, Perry and Hoffman stood out in the backfield, while McGrew, Clapper and Boyle shone on the defense.

GREEN ANNOUNCES NEW MEN'S SPORT

Thirty Men on Boxing Squad Expect to Meet Varsity Competition

BOXERS MEET AT RALLY

Stanley, Coveleski and Terry Are Outstanding Men in Middle-Weight Class

A squad of thirty men turned out for boxing, which is a new sport recently added to the curriculum of men's athletics at George Washington University. The boxers will be instructed by Coach Green in the gym every day except Saturday from two to five.

In the middleweight class, Coach Green points to Bill Stanley, a brawny youth with excellent technique. After a little preliminary instruction, Stanley appears to be a likely menace for any opponent. Leo Coveleski and "Bud" Terry, two new scrappers discovered by Green, bid fair to become well known in future fights. Coveleski boasts of surprising footwork and Terry's sparring partners can vouch for Bud's ferocious right.

Featherweight contenders have Harry Kleinman to bargain with. A sure-footed youngster with plenty of pep for fighting, Kleinman is apt to spring a few surprises.

Jeweler Is Bantam

The coach points to "Little Boy" Jeweler in the bantam group for a bevy of well placed hits.

The other prominent contenders for places on the team are Bill Phillips, "Wild Ed" Halpern, a fast welterweight, Shorey, and a newly acquired threat in Richwine.

The squad is composed at present of the following members: Johnson, Pagan, Ullman, Neitzey, Nusbbaum, Berman, Machmer, Stewart, Atherton, Fernell, Cohen and Haley. Most of these men have some knowledge of boxing, and it is for this reason that the coach is so confident of a successful season.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology team, probably will be met which added to the bouts with Washington and Lee, Manhattan, Catholic University, and possibly Syracuse and Bucknell will give the University men a chance for showing their mettle.

Schedule Is Arranged

A schedule of elimination bouts has been arranged by the coach and a series of about ten scraps among the squad members will take place in the gym during November to culminate in a final on the night before the C. U. G. W. football game. These preliminary bouts are for the purpose of selecting the men for the team. The final will be a main part of the football rally that is an annual feature of the most important game of the football season.

No special ability in boxing is necessary to report to the team and applications are still being accepted. For the benefit of the evening students, night instruction is being given in the gym from 7 to 8:30 every Monday and Wednesday evening.

The dates for the elimination bouts will be announced later as will the final schedule for the intercollegiate bouts. In the meantime, every possible effort is being expended toward making the team a fighting group of skilled boxers.

RIFLEMEN'S MEETING IS CALLED FOR FRIDAY

Men Interested in Rifle Asked by Coach Frank Parsons to Attend

The University Rifle team, and all other men interested in trying out for the team, will meet in Corcoran Hall, Room 1, this Friday evening, November 1, at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Frank Parsons will address the meeting and former Coach Walter Stokes is also expected to be present. Those who attend will be given an opportunity to meet Mr. Stokes, who is a former world's champion rifleman.

Practice will start Monday, November 4, at 7 p. m., and will continue thereafter according to the previously published schedule. No matches have been definitely arranged, as yet, prior to the annual intercollegiate league matches held by the National Rifle Association, and commencing in February. However, some challenge matches, mostly shoulder-to-shoulder, will shortly be agreed upon, to take place in December and January. These will include competitions with the George Washington alumni and the District of Columbia National Guard as well as with some of the other colleges in this vicinity.

W. Rubin for Rhodie, Atkins for Berlad, Goldhammer for Schmeer, Marcus for Puleo, Schmeer for Schlessinger, Duleberg for Targum, Lebowitz for Fligowitz, Babor for Atkins, Munves for Blenstock, Sobel for Rhodie, George Washington—Cox for West, Billinsky for Gates, Adams for Hoffman, Young for Francis.

Referee—J. A. Hill (Amherst). Umpire—E. A. C. Murphy (Brown). Linesman—D. M. Hooks (Princeton). Time of periods—15 minutes.

G. W. CUBS DOWN MD. JR. VARSITY

Whole Colonial Squad Takes Part in Handing Terrapins 32-19 Drubbing

GILL IS SHIFTED TO END

Carlin and Wells Score Twice; Stiebel Makes All Maryland's Points

The George Washington Freshman journeyed to College Park, Md., last Friday and turned in a 32-19 over the Maryland University Junior Varsity. Coach Pixlee used every available man in the "Colonial Parade," which might have been perfect had it not been for the inconsistency of the Hatchettes' aerial defense.

This makes the second victory in three starts for the Cubs. To date they have scored an aggregate of 59 points while their opponents total is 26.

G. W. started with the opening whistle to score two touchdowns in the first quarter. Sweeping end runs, after receiving the kick-off on the 28-yard line, placed the oval 26 yards from the Maryland goal. Wells then went off-tackle to give the Cubs 6 points; Krimelmeyer's try for point-after-touchdown being wide.

Maryland chose to receive, but lost the ball on downs. From the 40-yard line, the Colonials drove to a second marker, with Carlin, G. W. halfback, taking the ball through center to tally. Krimelmeyer's "boot" again went wild of the uprights.

Maryland Rallies

However, the Terrapins awoke in the next period, took a deep breath, and started an air display that terminated in a heater behind the G. W. two-chalk mark. But when the home team scored one touchdown, the visitors from the Capital thought it was necessary to make two, so they also passed and before long Carlin and Wells had both boosted the count to 26-6. The College Parker's again flipped the pigskin to a touchdown as the half ended.

After the rest Pixlee sent in his reserves, making a drastic change in substituting Gill, a halfback for Sturevant at end. On the fourth play of the second half, Bill Vogt, who went in for his brother, Al, at end, took a long pass from Carlin and made a brilliant run to the Terrapin goal. Carlin's kick went wild.

Carlin went over for another marker in this setto and Maryland scored with an end-run, but here the action ceased, for the finale was a deadlock with neither team having a serious advantage.

Dutch Stiebel, in scoring all three touchdowns and doing the bulk of the kicking for Maryland, was the most outstanding performer of the Terrapin Juniors.

G. W. with its bountiful lot of able gridmen, can give credit to all, but the work of Acting-Captain Ed Crandall, at center, Bob Galloway, at tackle, and of the Vogt Brothers, Carlin, Carter, and Wells is worthy of comment.

This Saturday the Freshmen will be host to the Johns Hopkins Youngsters here in Washington.

WOMEN'S RIFLE SQUAD PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

Heavy Schedule Has Been Arranged For Varsity Squad in Spring According to Coach

With unlimited possibilities for a successful season seen in the available material for women's rifle, the varsity squad met on the rifle range for its first practice of the season last Saturday.

Varsity squad members are to give general coaching to the new competitors for positions on the team for the first three weeks of practice. After that five members of the varsity will each choose two beginners to whom they will give special individual coaching. Tryouts for the varsity squad will be held every Saturday.

Last Saturday, Helen Chafee and Katherine Cutler, veterans from the Central High School team, were tried out by Betty Clark, varsity coach. Next week the following girls will be given trial at 2:00 o'clock of Saturday: Mary Sowerwine, Dorothy Wilson, Edna Collins, Emera Johnson, Caroline Seibert, Catherine Weller.

Night practice will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock if enough students are interested. Women wishing to practice at these hours are requested to sign up on a sheet on the outside of the range door in the basement of Building W.

Tentative Schedule

The tentative schedule for the national intercollegiate champion rifle shots of George Washington for this year includes matches with the University of Vermont and the University of Pennsylvania before Christmas, in January with the University of California and West Virginia, and in January with the Universities of California and West Virginia, and with Penn State. In February they are scheduled to shoot off the National Rifle Association matches, the championship of which they now hold. In March the squad will be kept busy meeting Carnegie Tech. University of Maryland, University of Washington and Drexel Institute, as well as shooting off the Dot and Circle championship, which they are now holding.

Bertie Wright, women's rifle team captain for this year, spoke at the Sphinx Hour, Glass luncheon, which was held for freshmen last Thursday on the past record of the Buff and Blue Women's Rifle team and pointed out the opportunities offered to beginners in rifle.

O. D. K. ARRANGES CLEARING HOUSE ON FRONT CAMPUS

Map Furnished Showing Route
To William and Mary

CARS TO BE FILLED WITH STUDENTS WISHING TRIP

Jerry Sickler, John Thacker and George von Dachenhausen to Be in Charge

Representatives of Omicron Delta Kappa will conduct an office on the front campus today and tomorrow for the purpose of finding transportation for those wishing to go to William and Mary who have been unable to find transportation, as well as to fill those cars which are going and need passengers to share the financial burden. From twelve until one, Jerry Sickler, John Thacker, and George von Dachenhausen will be on duty at a desk in front of the offices of Columbian College to act as clearing house. The plan is that all students who wish to go, but have no cars, will register their names. Those having cars with empty seats will also register, with the seating capacities of their machines. Then the committee will endeavor to fill the cars as well as possible, attempting at the same time to make each group congenial. It is understood that each student will share equally the expenses for his car.

Map Furnished

In this issue of The Hatchet there is a map of the best route to Williamsburg. The distance there is about one hundred and sixty-five miles. The road goes to Richmond and then turns southeast. It is excellent road all the way, and as a rule there is not much traffic. Much historical country is passed through on the way. The road traverses the Peninsula, which was the scene of heavy fighting during the Civil War. Williamsburg itself is filled with tradition. It was there that Phi Beta Kappa, the first Greek Letter Fraternity was formed in 1776. William and Mary is, incidentally, the second oldest college in the country. A little further to the south lies Jamestown and further still is Yorktown.

This transportation plan of O. D. K. is in line with its policy to best help George Washington as a whole. At present this organization is centering its activity around the athletic program. It has other plans in formulation which are intended to help Coach Pixlee build up a winning organization at this school both from the standpoint of victories, and of spirit in the student body.

Prof. Bemis Gives Numerous Lectures

Talks on Work Done While in Europe in Photostatic Historical Papers

Since Prof. Samuel E. Bemis' return from abroad, where he photostatted a number of historical papers for the Library of Congress, he has made several addresses touching on his work, and has been the subject of several articles in different publications.

On Thursday last, Dr. Bemis spoke to the District of Columbia Librarians Association on "Collections of Manuscripts in Europe Relating to American History and Their Exploitation by American Students."

Yesterday he spoke to the convention of Negro Historians on "The Camera and History," during which he mentioned his work in Europe.

At the annual meeting of the American Historical Association which will be held this year in Durham, N. C., Dr. Bemis will read a paper on "Fields for Research in the Diplomatic History of the United States."

A number of feature articles concerning interesting discoveries by Dr. Bemis during his two years' stay in Europe have appeared recently in "The Evening Star," in the form of interviews and human interest stories by Thomas R. Henry, a staff member of that paper.

Pharmaceutical Club Makes Garafolo Head

Other Officers Also Chosen by Mortar and Pestle Society; Debate
Is Planned

The election of officers of the Mortar and Pestle Society was held at a meeting at the Pharmacy Building, Friday, October 25. Garafolo was elected president; Williams, vice president; Norelli, secretary; Loveless, treasurer, and Sullivan, sergeant-at-arms.

Weekly meetings will be held and the topics will concern the welfare of the pharmaceutical profession.

During the last meeting, the president read a letter from the University of Maryland, challenging the George Washington Pharmacy School to a debate. Plans are being made to form such a debating team. Candidates for the team will be drawn from the entire student body of the School of Pharmacy, and those interested may hand their names to the secretary of the society.

MRS. HULL WILL TALK AT FIRST "Y" MEETING

The first Y. W. C. A. meeting of the year will be held Wednesday, October 30, at noon in W-4.

Mrs. Harry Hull, formerly student secretary of the University of Kansas, will address the meeting. The date and plans for the County Fair will be announced by Margaret Monk, who is in charge of the Fair this year.

Applications for membership may still be handed in. Membership dues are one dollar.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

COLUMBIA

Gloria Swanson, in what is being called the greatest picture of her career—"The Trespasser," remains at Loew's Columbia for the second week. It is Gloria's debut on the talking screen, and not only does she present a rich, vibrant voice and a splendid characterization, but she surprises the audience with her singing ability.

The story presents Gloria as Mary Donnell, a young business woman who gives up her millionaire husband because he has not the courage of his convictions, but chooses to yield to his father's family pride in opposition to love for his wife.

A slangy, breezy, romantic comedy of modern American life, featuring the flame-tressed "It" girl of the screen, Clara Bow, is this week's feature at the Earle Theater, opening "Big Picture Month." Its title is "The Saturday Night Kid."

It is described as "a joyful, peppy story of love in a department store, a triangle with an entirely new twist, and a touch of broad, uproarious satire added in the form of a rehearsal of the department store's theatrical production."

Described as an aviation classic, "Flight," the picture now at the Fox Theater, concerns the airmen of the Marine Corps. Jack Holt, star of many successes, is its featured player, and with him are Ralph Graves, who also wrote the story, and Lila Lee.

The picture was taken in co-operation with the Marine Corps and though entertainment value has not been sacrificed, it is stated, it is technically correct as to the military and flying phases.

"Flight" is announced by the Fox management as the first talking picture with man's now successful attempts to conquer the air as its subject.

Paramount's "The Four Feathers," which is the only silent picture of the last year to stampede staid Broadway remains at the Metropolitan for a second week.

An unusual story, reminiscent of "Beau Geste," is aided by an unusual background of animal action and African tribesmen pictures, and the completed presentation is one which more than makes up in action for what it lacks in vocal expression.

Dick Arien gives the best characterization of his career in the male lead. Their usual flawless impersonations are contributed by William Powell and Clive Brook, who can hardly fail to be liked and admired whatever their role be; and Fay Wray is as weak but as beautiful as ever, as the love interest.

NATIONAL

The Brock Pemberton production, "Seven Year Love," a comedy by John D. Haggart, is being presented for one week, prior to its opening on Broadway, at the National Theater.

Mr. Haggart, whose first play it is, is said to have written an unusually amusing and entertaining comedy, which concerns itself with a group of smart people from several nations gathered in a Park Avenue drawing room prior to sailing for the Riviera.

Mr. Pemberton has cast "Seven Year Love" carefully and well. The players include Catherine Willard, Edwin Nader, Frank Elliott, Guido Nadzo, Walter Petrie, Theresa Maxwell Connover, Carlotta Irwin, Audrey Ridgwell, Horace Pollock, Julie Sutton, Kirk Ames, John Robb and Natalie Boisclair.

Antoinette Perry and Mr. Pemberton have staged this comedy in the spirit in which it was written.

Clive Brook, in the role of Sherlock Holmes in the Paramount talking production, "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," is the current screen attraction at Loew's Palace. The hero of Sir Conan Doyle's famous detective stories handles his last case in this picture.

Holmes has been asked by his friend and associate, Dr. Watson, to attend the wedding of the doctor's daughter. Sherlock arrives in time to find the entire family upset by the disappearance of the bridegroom and the murder of his father. Although Holmes is in retirement, he takes the case for the sake of his friend. The chase takes them aboard an ocean liner, where Holmes finds he is dealing with a famous group of criminals, who are tapping the wireless telephone lines and stealing valuable cargo. He finds also that the head of this gang is his ancient enemy, Moriarty, and by a clever ruse succeeds in outwitting his old enemy and restoring the missing bridegroom.

R. K. O. KEITH'S

Forsaking the policy of high class vaudeville presentation, which has prevailed ever since it became a theater, Keith's has been reopened under the auspices of the RadioKeith-Orpheum organization as one of the leading picture theaters of Washington and under the name of R. K. O. Keith's Theater. Its first attraction, the current feature of this week, is "Street Girl," starring Betty Compson. It is based on an original story titled "The Viennese Charmer." It is, of course, one of the big talking-sound productions in which, it is announced, Radio Pictures specializes, and which are to provide future programs of high excellence.

Miss Compson is supported by a notable cast.

RAGATZ' VOLUME WELL RECEIVED IN MANY REVIEWS

"The Fall of the Planter Class in
The British Caribbean, 1763-
1833" by Dr. Ragatz

FAVORABLY REVIEWED BY PAPERS AND MAGAZINES

Is Expansion of Doctoral Dissertation
Which Took Prize of American Historical Association

Events leading to the downfall of the rich sugar planters of the Caribbean are interestingly depicted in Dr. Ragatz's recent volume, "The Fall of the Planter Class in the British Caribbean, 1763-1833."

In a review of the work by the American Historical Review that publication says: "An exhaustive and valuable study of an important subject never before adequately handled. The thoroughness with which Professor Ragatz treats his subject is unusual."

It is an expansion of the doctoral dissertation which was awarded the Justin Winsor Prize of the American Historical Association. It contains 520 pages and was published by the Century Company.

This book offers for the first time an exhaustive study of the breakdown of the plantation system in the Caribbean sugar colonies of Great Britain. In the middle of the eighteenth century the sugar planters were the conspicuously rich men of Great Britain. "As wealthy as a West Indian" was proverbial. Seventy-five years later found the planters fallen from this high estate with the dwindling returns from their decayed properties, all but completely engrossed by creditors.

The decline of the British West Indies has received slight attention heretofore, it being generally attributed to abolition and emancipation. Dr. Ragatz's study reveals that abolition and emancipation were only contributing factors. The primary causes were a wasteful agricultural system, the rivalry of newly-exploited tropical territories, adherence to a policy of restricted trade after all real justification for it had ceased to exist, vicious fiscal legislation in the mother country, and forty years of intermittent warfare.

Praise From Herald-Tribune

Dr. Ragatz's book is based for the most part on contemporary evidence embodied in the governor's official correspondence, "the Board of Trade papers, the records of organized groups in England with Caribbean interests; the findings of parliamentary committees; observations of travelers; and the writings of proprietors and their opponents."

The New York Herald-Tribune says, "Professor Ragatz has painstakingly combed the sources and traces the story of the decline of the British sugar islands with a steady hand."

The Geographic World speaks of the volume in these praiseworthy words, "Adheres scrupulously to the highest standards of scholarship. A contribution of great importance to colonial economic history."

"This study at once takes its place among the standard works in the field of colonial history. It is admirably written and is distinctly a credit to the author," says The West India Committee Review.

Tobacco's
at its best . . . in a pipe

MEN'S preference for a man's smoke—the pipe—is plenty positive. But do you know why? We'll tell you.

First, pipe tobacco's different—for instance, Edgeworth. Second, tobacco smolders as it should in a pipe. And third, these mean you get more satisfaction—greater relish of the good old savory burley, soothing fullness of rich smoke.

There's even a fourth reason; you like good company. The pipe-smoking brotherhood is that.

Tobacco's at its best in a pipe. It gets a chance to be itself there—to loosen up as it comes to life, to expand and take in air and glow. Only the choicest leaves get that chance, moreover; for pipes tell the truth about tobacco. Choice leaves, choice blends, and mighty careful handling. Edgeworth comes up through eleven distinct processes before we're willing to pass it on to you.

If you keep on missing all this, that's your fault—for we're waiting to send you your first pipeful of Edgeworth. See the coupon? Fill it out, get a good pipe and the postman will bring you a neat little glad-to-meet-you packet of good old Edgeworth.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobacco—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy it anywhere—"Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—in 5¢ pocket package to pound humid tin.
